

Ken Caspall

Ken Caspall was born and raised on a farm near Macomb, Illinois. After receiving a Bachelor's degree from Western Illinois University in 1963 and a Master's Degree from Purdue University in 1965, Ken started his career working for Growmark, a farm-supply and grain-marketing cooperative in Bloomington, IL.

After a few years, Ken decided to relocate to Columbia, Missouri. He began working for MFA Incorporated in 1969 as the manager of marketing research. In 1971, Ken left MFA Incorporated to open his own gift and furniture business in downtown Columbia which he owned and operated for 13 years.

After Ken sold his business in 1984, he was offered a job at MFA Oil Company as Director of Planning. He later served as a District Sales Manager, Vice President of Administration and eventually as Vice President of Sales. In February 2007, after 22 years with the company, Ken retired from his full-time position, but has continued to work part-time on special projects for the company.

Besides his work at MFA Oil, Ken is active in the community – serving on the board of directors for Habitat for Humanity and Missouri Community Betterment and volunteering at his church. He also enjoys traveling and playing golf and tennis with his wife Diane, and spending time with family and friends.

Ken's contribution to MCB fundraising has been invaluable through his expertise in the creation of the MCB Development Plan and his experience in making visits to potential funders.
